this is a book for the person who is hungry for an answer i know that feeling i was stuck in it for years and as a coach and speaker i have noticed there is a constant theme for us all we have read all of the success books we have gone to the seminars but when we go to execute their wonderful information a feeling comes up we lay in bed and just don't feel like doing what they suggest even though we know it will make our life better that feeling stops us from executing one or more steps they suggest we take to make our lives better i couldn't overcome that feeling either here i was an alcoholic a sex addict sugar addict spending addict tobacco addict love addict i had gone bankrupt been through two horrific divorces a child custody battle i played two professional sports i never wanted to play and i contemplated suicide none of the books showed me or explained where that feeling comes from why we all get it and how to overcome it without that information i couldn't execute all of their wonderful suggestions so this is my story and how i took all of that great information from all of those great success teachers i collated it and then added to it i discuss where that feeling comes from why we all get it and how to overcome it this book bridges the gap when you have this information this skillset to overcome that feeling than you can put into place all of their incredible advice and have the personal and professional success we are all searching for

among the 600 000 annual divorces that transpire within the united states almost all of them begin with a marriage crisis whether your partner told you they want to leave the marriage or you are wondering how to break the news that you want out this breaking point can be filled with overwhelming emotions worry about children becoming collateral damage and ill advised counseling that make navigating this process more frightening and confusing than it has to be these heartbreaking times can propel couples into a state of fear panic and uncertainty about what steps they should take sometimes leading them to divorce when reconciliation might have been possible known as the marriage crisis manager marriage and family therapist becky whetstone fills in these gaps by speaking to both partners on how to manage themselves and their relationship in the healthiest of ways regardless of the eventual outcome it is increasingly recognised that the strength of the bond between counsellor and client is the best indicator of a good outcome for the client the theoretical model employed by the counsellor matters less than the relationship the counsellor can build with each individual client yet first year counselling students continue to be taught about different models of therapy and specialised approaches supposedly needed by clients with different problems the result is often confusion and uncertainty and many trained counsellors graduate without a solid grasp of how to form an authentic relationship with any client unlike most texts a safe place for change focuses squarely on the therapeutic relationship skills are presented in terms of their contribution to the relationship theories and models are referred to throughout but the authors emphasise what the different approaches have in common rather than the specialised terminology that often makes them seem more different than they actually are the personal capacities and skills that distinguish a good counsellor or therapist are presented in the same order in which they would appear within the actual therapeutic relationship the initial chapters teach holding and exploring skills that are almost automatically required in the first few sessions with a new client then follows a chapter that deals with the challenge to the counsellor client relationship which often appears after the first two sessions and shows counsellors how they can respond most usefully to that challenge as the therapeutic relationship continues and deepens it becomes possible to invite clients to consider how they might be contributing to their own problems the skill of gentle honesty or encountering finally the authors introduce two different approaches to achieving change solving the problem via advice instruction and homework and re parenting the person something that is more likely to be crucial in long term work with clients who present entrenched difficulties in living and relating well written insightful and accessible this textbook speaks directly to students of counselling and psychotherapy recognising their needs and their challenges the authors real world experience is evident throughout the book as is their skill in teaching complex concepts in clear language in the mother and the manager elizabeth ralston courageously explores how our traditional gender roles create codependent behaviors in men and women and offers positive workable solutions toward dealing with this problem the mother and the manager takes an in depth look at how our society has evolved and impacted gender roles into the twenty first century as 12 step recovery groups have flourished in recent years women have been educated about why they have issues such as low self esteem perfectionism rigidity relationship failures inability to get their needs met and fear of conflict elizabeth has bravely shared about how patriarchy has impacted her life and how recovery has helped her to empower and heal herself she will help many who are searching for answers to their questions and will help them on the road to recovery i salute her ability to face her fears about rocking the boat in writing this book and taking the risk to speak her truth and stay on her god inspired path ginger s edwards licensed professional counselor licensed
